

'Unfrosted' Pires Group Seen Wielding Influence Naming Lee Probation Officer, Master

Political Shenanigans Deny Judge Bracken Customary Courtesy Of Naming Own Officials

By CLIFF COUGHLIN
Telegraph City Editor

What is viewed in some quarters as political shenanigans by the backers of State's Atty. Morey Pires, i. e., the "Warner Machine," to embarrass newly-elected Circuit Judge Robert Bracken, was becoming evident today.

There was indication of some back-of-the-scenes wire-pulling to deny Judge Bracken the customary right of a judge to appoint his own probation officer and master-in-chancery in the county in which he resides.

This would, in effect, give the "Warner machine" the political patronage in a campaign in which it was thoroughly discredited by the voters of Lee county.

Apparently the plan would work like this: The disenfranchised "Warner machine" has exerted sufficient pressure in Ogle and Stephenson counties to gain the backing of the followers of the other two elected circuit judges: Judge Leon Zick, Oregon, and Judge Harry Wheat, of Freeport.

By gaining the support of Zick and Wheat, it could override the vote of Judge Bracken in the final endorsement of any candidates proposed by the Lee county judge.

This became evident Wednesday when Atty. Edward Merrick, Dixon, probation officer under retiring Circuit Judge George C. Dixon, withdrew his resignation given to Judge Bracken on July 1.

Merrick, in handing his resignation to Judge Bracken, admitted that he had supported State's Atty. Pires and matter-of-factly said that he expected Judge Bracken to replace him.

Withdraw Wednesday. But Wednesday, Atty. Merrick, in another communication to Judge Bracken, said that he had reconsidered since Judge Bracken had not named his successor. He said he wanted to withdraw his resignation.

When asked by a reporter the reason for his action, Merrick said "I just received a call from Judge Zick who asked me to remain on as probation officer. He said Judge Wheat supported him in this."

A probation officer is a circuit official and, if supported by the majority of the judges, can come from anywhere in the circuit. However, it has been customary for resident judges to name these officers in the county in which he resides.

Concur on Two. In the two remaining counties, Jo Daviess and Carroll in the case of the 15th circuit, the three judges will concur on a choice of those officers.

For example, Judge George C. Dixon named Atty. Merrick, probation officer, and shifted the job of master in chancery among a number of local attorneys endorsed by the Lee County Bar association.

The mystery centers on the sudden change of heart of Merrick and his claimed support of Judges Wheat and Zick, who if they are supporting Merrick, would be acting contrary to established custom.

Solution? Maybe. Solution of the mystery is reported to lie with Atty. Henry Warner, Pires' main supporter in the June 4 campaign, who unfrosted as a political boss in Lee county, has succeeded in shifting his political influence into Ogle and Stephenson counties.

Should he be successful in gaining the support of Wheat and Zick in naming Warner-backed

Buffer Zone Snarls Peace Talks

Reds Reported Stubborn Over Armistice Line
Observers Describe Cease-Fire Debate As 'Cool, Forceful'

U. N. ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea. (AP)—United Nations and Communist cease-fire teams clashed head-on today over the thorny problem of a military buffer zone across the Korean peninsula.

Gen. Nam Il, chief Red envoy, stated the Red position "with more force and nerve than on any previous occasion," an eye-witness said.

But at the end of two hours and 25 minutes, both sides held stubbornly to their earlier positions.

The Reds want the buffer line along the 38th parallel. The U.N. allies want it along the present battle lines.

Air force Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, who attended today's three sessions, said there was no indication of an area of agreement.

Both sides refused to budge. A heavy rain hammered down on the former Kaesong restaurant as the grim negotiators faced each other across the greentopped conference table.

Atmosphere "Cool" The atmosphere in the room was officially described as "cool military formality."

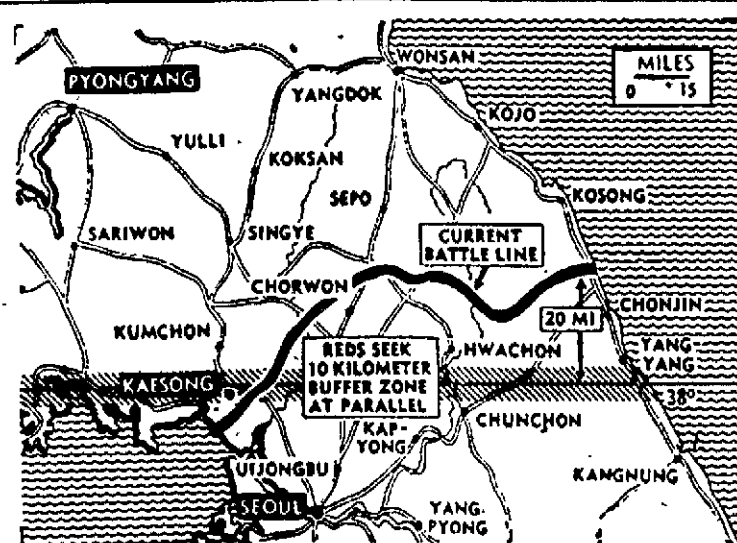

The phrase was not elaborated, but it recalled a description of the first meeting of liaison officers in the same room July 8.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney said the tone of that first meeting was "military courtesy—a cold way of not being exactly hostile."

Nuckols said the positions of the two sides today were "reasonably clearcut, but there is a considerable difference between the positions."

Concerning Nam, Nuckols said, "I wouldn't say he was belligerent, but he certainly was forceful."

Resume Tonight The delegates presumably will return to the knotty question in tomorrow's meeting—the 13th—scheduled to start at 11 a.m. (8 p.m. CDT, Saturday).

PEACE MAP—Map above shows problem now under discussion at Kaesong, Korea, peace conference. The Communists are known to want a 10-kilometer (6 1/4 miles) "buffer zone" somewhere along the 38th parallel, which would force a UN withdrawal of up to 20 miles. The UN is expected to seek a cease-fire line more related to the current battle line. The present front, anchored along a chain of mountains and the shortest distance across the peninsula, offers UN forces a line easier to defend than the 38th parallel.

Flash Flood Bars Highway At Sublette

SUBLETTE—A heavy down-pour flooded Rt. 52 one mile south of here Friday evening and poured tons of water into basements inside town.

Like a flash flood, water poured off hillsides and collected at a low spot in the pavement. State police discovered the flooding and radioed to state highway headquarters in Dixon for barricades and flares.

Traffic was held up until the highway truck arrived and the water depth was tested. After highway department workers set out flares traffic was permitted to move through the flooded area at a slow pace.

U. S. Envoy Voices Hope Of Oil Peace

LONDON, (AP) — W. Averill Harriman flew in from Tehran today and told newsmen he thought the Iranian oil crisis could be solved if Britain agrees to Iran's proposals for reopening negotiations.

"I am hopeful that proposals that the Iranian government have made will form the basis of the two governments getting together," he said.

"I am personally quite confident that if negotiations can be re-established that a satisfactory solution would be worked out."

Harriman, President Truman's international trouble-shooter, has been in Tehran trying to bring Iran and Britain together to discuss the dispute over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's properties.

Last Tuesday the Iranian government, through Harriman, offered for the first time to discuss the crisis with the British government. A previous negotiation attempt by directors of the billion dollar company broke down after one meeting.

More Fortunate Lee County Farmers Can Aid Rural Flood Victims in Four-State Area

Lee county farmers, thankful that they have escaped the torrential flood waters which ravaged the lands in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and southern Illinois, are helping their fellow Americans by giving to the Lee county Red Cross Emergency Flood Relief fund drive.

The farmers in the four flood stricken states have seen the mighty waters inundate their lands and destroy all crops. Much land has been washed away by the pressure of the swirling, swollen rivers. This land can never be used again as it will be deposited in the Gulf of Mexico by the Mississippi river.

Aiding Farmers

The Red Cross, through the Emergency flood relief program, is aiding the farmers of these four states to "get back on their feet." This national group, organized to meet the effect of disasters, is aiding in the reseeding and the rehabilitation of the farm lands which were flooded.

And the Red Cross is helping the flood victims and town and cities located in the path of the flood as well. So far, flood damage has been estimated at more than one billion dollars with the toll still mounting.

Still Rolling

The flood waters haven't stopped rolling although the major damage has been done. The waters are now menacing towns and farmland in northern Tennessee and Arkansas.

Thousands of children and their parents have been made homeless by the flood. They are being cared for by the Red Cross until they are able to provide for themselves.

The Red Cross has a tremendous job to do in aiding the stricken families. This work of flood relief comes on top of all the other projects of the organization, including helping our boys in Korea.

Depend On You

Only by giving to the Red Cross in the current flood relief fund drive can residents of Lee, Ogle and Bureau counties be assured that their fellow Americans get adequate care. The Red Cross is helping every one it can to recover from this tragic flood, but it takes your gifts to insure that all will be provided for.

The Dixon Evening Telegraph is giving its full support to the Red Cross in this worthy cause

Warns Nation To Get Ready For Emergency

Questions Russia's Aims in Korea at Speech in Detroit

DETROIT — (AP)—President Truman bitterly accused Russia today of making dangerous, war-like military preparations "around the world" and warned his country to get ready for "any emergency."

Mr. Truman questioned whether the Communists "really desire peace in Korea" since, he said, Soviet rulers "are putting themselves in a position where they can commit new acts of aggression at any time."

And he assailed administration critics at home for "trying to stir up trouble and suspicion between the people and their community."

"They are using the smear and the big lie for personal publicity and partisan advantage, heedless of the damage they do their country," he asserted. "Never, not even in the bitterest political campaigns, have I seen such a flood of lies and slander as is now pouring forth over the country."

Mr. Truman flew here from Washington to address an outdoor audience in Cadillac square in front of the city hall as part of this industrial city's 250th anniversary celebration.

Can't Relax "We can not let our guard down, no matter what happens in Korea," he said in his prepared speech.

"The free world must have armed strength—and have it now—not in reserve, not later, but now."

"We must have men, ships, planes, tanks, and bombs—on hand—ready for any emergency."

The president said Russia's actions "certainly are no indication of peaceful intentions" and went on: "We do not yet know whether the Communists really desire peace in Korea or whether they are simply trying to gain by negotiations what they have not been able to gain by conquest."

"We intend to find out."

Must Not Err "But whatever happens in Korea," the president asserted, "we must not make the mistake of jumping to the conclusion that the

Senator Douglas Will Go to Mat With Truman on Judges Choice

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Armed with a quotation from Martin Luther, Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) is embarked on what he calls a "struggle" with the president over two federal judgeship appointments.

Asserting that he has no personal resentment against President Truman and is loathe to make the fight, Douglas quoted in the original German Luther's "God helping me, I can do no other" in explaining his stand. Luther was the 16th century friar who rebelled against the authority of the pope of the Roman Catholic church and set up the reformed church.

Will Oppose Choices

The Illinois senator explained his stand on the judgeship controversy to a reporter after he had announced he will oppose personally the nominations of Joseph J. Drucker and Cornelius J. Harrington when they come before the senate judiciary committee next week.

The committee has invited Harrington to testify Aug. 3, and Drucker to appear Aug. 4, on their appointments to the federal bench in Chicago. The committee will hear Joseph S. Perry, Wheaton, Ill., lawyer, a third appointee supported by Douglas, Aug. 2.

Will Ask to Testify

Douglas said he will ask to testify in support of Perry's nomination and against Drucker and Harrington. He conceded, however, that even if he is successful

Not Best Choice

Douglas said that the president's action in picking the two nominees without consulting or notifying him did not result in choice of the best men for the positions.

"I regard these methods and manner by which the appointments were made and the effect of these nominations as obviously contrary to the public interest and in that sense personally obnoxious to me as a believer in good government."

Soviet Minister Tells Quakers Russia Ready to Talk 'Business'

MOSCOW—(AP)—A group of British Quakers left for home today after hearing Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik tell them Russia is ready for "businesslike" negotiations with the West on world issues and does not want to export its revolution.

The Quakers told Western newsmen yesterday that these were among replies made to a seven-point peace program they presented to Malik at a meeting Thursday night. Western observers are waiting with interest to see if the news of the Malik-Quaker talks are published in the Soviet Press.

Britishers' Reaction

A member of the British group said he was "both encouraged and disappointed" by the interview with Malik. He said he was encouraged because of the time and attention the Soviet government had given to them and disappointed because Malik answered by merely calling attention to past Soviet statements and actions on the subject.

Western diplomats, remembering that Malik's last public statement in New York led to the Korean cease-fire talks, were highly interested in the exchange although one of them described the Quaker mission as a "very old affair." He said the handling of foreign affairs should be left to governments and qualified experts

Seven Point Program

The Quakers said they "showed the seven-point program to British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison in London before giving it to Malik here. They said it contained the following points:

1. Restraint of anti-Western propaganda in the Soviet press.
2. Willingness to permit United Nations membership for countries presently excluded and to join in consultations as an instrument of peaceful cooperation between peoples.
3. Non-interference in the domestic affairs of non-Communist countries.
4. A general world program for radical disarmament.
5. Co-operation by the Soviet Union in a world plan for improving economic and social conditions in backward countries.
6. A Big Four conference among the foreign ministers of the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France.

World Plan

Western diplomats, remembering that Malik's last public statement in New York led to the Korean cease-fire talks, were highly interested in the exchange although one of them described the Quaker mission as a "very old affair." He said the handling of foreign affairs should be left to governments and qualified experts

Taxes, Freezes, Rising Costs Hinder, But Profits Increase

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, (AP) — High taxes, rising costs and price freezes are taking their toll of profits in many industries. But others go booming along, record sales pulling this year's earnings far above what they made in the first half of last year.

The mixed trend in the economy is strikingly shown today in a sampling—a study of the profits of 122 leading companies in their field. They are among the first to report so far on earnings in the first six months, as mid-year statements pour forth from company offices.

As a whole, the 122 made $1,835,099,041 this year. This is an increase of $35,769,916 over last year's total of $1,799,329,125, or less than two per cent. In the first quarter of this year corporate profits were 25 per cent greater than they were in the first quarter in 1950.

Delight Stockholders
Doing impressively better this year than last were the container and packaging companies, the airlines and aircraft. Retail chain stores, paper and pulp companies, mining and metal firms, the oil industry and makers of heavy machinery turned in reports to delight stockholders. Moderately ahead of last year in the profit column are business machine makers, chemicals, coal companies, textiles, and electric appliance companies. That is, these industries gained this year as a whole, although individual companies in the various classes weren't doing so well.

Taxes Take Toll
But taxes and price ceilings took a heavy toll among others, even when sales mounted. Dropping below last year's total in the profit column are the motors, utilities, food, building materials, tobacco and steel industries. That is, as a whole the industries drop behind. In each class are companies doing better this year than last. Striking is the fact that out of 122 companies only 36 show profits this year smaller than last, while 86 forged ahead in earnings this year. And not one of the 122 operated in the red in the first half of this year.

Some of the big boys in their fields who made less take-home pay this year—often in spite of increased earnings before taxes—were Du Pont, General Motors, International Business Machines, General Electric, Bethlehem Steel, United Fruit National Biscuit and Liggett-Myers.

Five Do Better
Of nine food companies, five did better this year, but the other four outweighed them. Two coal companies did better and two did poorer. Three electric and home appliance firms didn't equal last year's profits but the two that bettered their last year's figures outweighed them.

All the oils, airlines, paper and pulp, container, and retail chains sampled did better than a year ago.

Fast-Growing Steer Produced By Crossing Buffalo, Brahma

BELLE FOURCHE, S.D., (AP) —There's a rancher out here who is raising fur-bearing cows. He did it by crossing buffalo bulls and Indian Brahmas cows, and the freakish-looking critter he had developed may be the forerunner of a new breed of knuck-growing range cattle. He calls it the "Brahmalo."

When Pete Rosander started his project nine years ago his fellow ranchers told him it was a foolish waste of time.

"But when people try to tell you that you can't do anything, you get your back bowed," said Pete.

Bought Buffalo Herd

Crippled from years of range riding, Rosander bought a private herd of 33 buffaloes in 1942. He slaughtered all but nine calves. Then he decided he would cross-breed buffaloes with rugged Brahmas cows.

"I wanted to get a grade of cattle that would eat less, grow quicker, and produce more meat than ordinary cattle," he said. "And I wanted fur on them so they could stand the winter better."

A fur-bearing cow? The other ranchers really laughed. "I tried for seven years before I got my first Brahmalo calf," Pete said. "I began to think my neighbors were right."

Still Experimenting
The Brahmalo has a Brahma-shaped body, and the head and fur of a buffalo. At two it now is as big as a four-year-old range steer.

Today the rancher has a herd of 13 Brahmales, and the neighbors who scoffed at him are now trying to buy them. But Pete won't sell. He wants to go on breeding and experimenting. Knowing nothing of textbook genetics, he asked a scientist in the U.S. department of agriculture what he should do next. He got this answer:

"If a man is dumb enough to try to cross a tropical cow with a buffalo—and then goes ahead and does it—I wouldn't say he couldn't do anything."

The same scientist then told Pete he had done more in seven years in this line than the government had in 75 years. And he helped get the rancher 10 more buffaloes to continue his work.

"Whenever I go to Washington," Pete laughed, "they ask me more questions than I ask them."

Wants Cheaper Meat

The 54-year-old ex-cowboy and broncho buster is the number one man in this particular quest for cheaper meat for the American dinner table. He finds it flattering that scientists all over the world now write him for advice on animal cross-breeding.

But he figures his Brahmales won't begin to pay off for at least another 10 years, and he isn't satisfied yet that they are the best he can do.

There is no authentic record of the origin of the office of Poet-Laureate of England. It is assumed that Geoffrey Chaucer (1328-1400) was one of the first to bear the title.

There's a Change at Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif., (AP) — It won't be the same when the swallows come back to Capistrano next year.

Father Arthur J. Hutchinson, who has greeted them every year since 1933, won't be on hand. He died yesterday.

It was under the direction of Father Hutchinson that the legend of the swallows gained widest fame. Spurred by a hit-parade song, tourists visited the famous old mission here by the hundreds of thousands. With them came prosperity, and the padre was able to restore the mission garden and direct excavation of the mission's early ruins.

According to the legend, the swallows began arriving at the mission on St. Joseph's day, March 19, every year, and depart on St. John's day, Oct. 23.

Hutchinson, 74, was born in Brooklyn. He came to California in 1920 and became priest at the mission in 1933.

Farm Prices Drop Again

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The general level of farm prices, according to agriculture department figures, has declined for the fifth consecutive month since reaching a record last February.

The department said yesterday the level dropped 23 per cent between mid-June and mid-July.

That was six per cent under the February peak, but about 16 per cent above the level at the time fighting broke out in Korea.

Prospects of bountiful harvest have been a major factor in turning farm prices down.

The sharpest decreases reported were in cotton, meat animals, oil-bearing crops, peaches and oranges.

Hayfever Victim May Get More Relief From New, Purer Serum

EVANSTON, ILL. — A purer, more potent ragweed pollen extract which may prove a boon to the nation's hay fever sufferers has been developed by scientists at Northwestern university.

The substance, which can be used either in skin tests for hay fever or in immunization against the allergy, will be used in treatment of patients for the first time this summer.

The research workers are Dr. Theodore B. Bernstein, associate in medicine at Northwestern's medical school; Dr. Raymond P. Mariella, Northwestern assistant professor of chemistry; and Anne L. Mosher, graduate student in chemistry.

Explain Method

Dr. Mariella revealed that the new preparation is obtained by dripping yellow ragweed solution through a glass tube filled with a special acidic aluminum oxide. The acid wash removes pigments and impurities and leaves a colorless, active filtrate from which a purified and potent ragweed extract is prepared.

The Northwestern university investigators estimate that they have been able to remove almost all the impurities of the pollen extract. Material formerly in use was almost 40 per cent impure.

The experiments with ragweed pollen, which were initiated by Dr. Bernstein more than two years ago, are being extended to extracts of molds, dusts, and foods.

May Prove Invaluable

Food and other substances used in testing for allergy still contain pigments and other irritants which may produce false positive skin reactions. The university scientists believe that these irritants will be eliminated from extracts prepared by their new method, which may prove invaluable in testing patients suspected of allergy.

Immunization by injection of pollen extracts for pollen hay fever and asthma is still the most satisfactory treatment for providing relief to the country's three to six million sufferers.

Because medical science does not yet offer a complete cure for hay fever and other allergic diseases, work on improving immunization methods against these states is the most fruitful basis of investigation, according to Dr. Bernstein.

Use Lights at Fireplace for Pleasant Effect

Take advantage of exposed fireplace chimney bricks in the living room to create an unusual lighting effect and to add life and interest to the otherwise drab chimney.

At the ceiling line, place fluorescent tubing across the width of the chimney and conceal the tubes with a narrow cornice board. If the bricks are red or brown, the soft fluorescent glow will take away their harshness and cast a pleasing light into the room.

Painting the bricks white or a pastel color to match the walls will produce lighting of greater brilliance. If the entire chimney wall is of brick, soften its lines by hanging one or two growing plants in burnished copper pots against it.

House Wraps Around Outdoors Patio

House of Ideas Puts Outdoors Into 20th Century Living

NEW YORK — A house in the country sheltered from the workaday world and congested traffic, where there are trees and flowers and birds, where children can play, and where the whole family can live with the outdoors—that, in the broad sense of its meaning, is the dream of virtually every father and mother.

The answer to such a house, in effect, is the House of Ideas at Upper Brookville, Long Island.

Designed and built at an approximate cost of $45,000, and opened to public view in June, the House of Ideas stands in the center of two acres of land secluded from the road by clumps of evergreens and native trees. It is of contemporary design and built to hug the gently sloping contours of the site with living and bedroom wings connected by an entrance gallery to form a graceful "U" around a nature-packed patio for outdoor living. The whole picture is one of privacy and serenity.

All One Floor

The house is all on one floor with no basement. Exterior siding is natural red cypress put on vertically. Basically, there are three wings—service, living and bedroom.

The service wing reaches out toward the road and is closed off at the front by a commodious garden storage closet and a carport for two cars. Adjacent to this, the walled area of the wing has a 12 by 14-foot kitchen with full electrical equipment.

The living wing has a 31 by 16-foot living room with woodburning fireplace of stone that forms virtually the whole end wall, a dining area, and screened living porch, 10 by 17 feet. Guest-study with private bath, and 18½ by 13-foot master bedroom with mirrored dressing room and bath, a 20½ by 14½-foot children's playroom that can be converted by a folding partition into two individual sleeping rooms, and the main bathroom make up the bedroom wing.

Wall of Glass

To fully captivate the picturesque setting, whole walls of glass face onto the patio from the living room and entrance gallery. Likewise, the terrace side of the bedroom wing is lined with picture windows as is one wall of the kitchen, all looking out onto nature's ever-changing pictures.

Interior dry wall construction permits flexibility of arrangement if and when partition changes are desired. The floor slab is poured concrete covered in the service and portions of the bedroom wings with asphalt tile, and in the living room with cork tile. The gallery is paved with flagstone. One wall of the living room and one of the gallery pick up the cypress siding used on the exterior to emphasize the close relationship with the outdoors. These walls are rubbed with white lead to get a warmer blending of tone with interior furnishings.

Use Tile Floor For Radiant Heat

With the extensive use of radiant heat supplied by hot water pipes embedded in concrete floors, architects generally specify that the concrete be covered with tile flooring because it does not warp and permits maximum heat to reach the room.

Now that warm weather's here you'll be packing picnic lunches and carrying sandwiches. It's well to remember, however, that salad fillings of chicken, eggs, fish, or meat are not recommended for summertime carrying unless they can be kept cold.

Rugged Simplicity, Comfort Mark Room for Man of House

Comfort and masculine atmosphere, plain, rugged furnishings and simple decorative ideas are essential in a room that a man can call his own for reading or study, hobby work or play.

To mark the room as masculine and to remove the sleeping-room atmosphere, in case it must do double-duty both as study and bedroom, a bed without head or footboard should be used. By covering it with fabric which matches the draperies, decorative unity is attained.

Straightforward Furniture

Furniture should follow simple, straightforward lines. Chairs should be deep and roomy. Use sectional drawer and cabinet units which can be fitted together in any desired combination to make dresser space, or build in drawers and cabinets with broad tops along one wall.

A capacious wall magazine rack and a desk with a broad work surface should be included. A desk may be built-in across one corner, filling it completely. Drawers under one end, open shelves on the other side, will keep papers and frequently-used books in easy reach.

Wall Cabinets And Shelves

Wall cabinets above the desk.

Family Gathering

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., (AP) — James C. Bagshaw, 61, of Hollidaysburg, took his family for an auto ride last night.

About the same time his son, Emory, 31, of nearby Williamsburg, also decided it was a nice evening for a drive.

Both father and son chose the same country road. Their cars collided head-on. Six persons, including father and son, were injured, two seriously enough to be hospitalized.

Congress Fails to Act to Slice Post Office Deficit

The 82nd session of congress came in for some sharp criticism today in a radio broadcast by John Stuart, chairman of the Illinois Citizens committee for the Hoover report, for delay in enacting the post office reforms recommended by the bipartisan Hoover commission. Stuart said that one bill—designed to remove politics and patronage from the post office department—has been lying on the table of the senate post office and civil service committee for over a year.

"The survey of the bipartisan Hoover commission," he said, "has set down, in black and white, just how the annual multi-million dollar post office deficit can be cut in half while actually improving the service."

In addition to removing politics from the post office, the commission's recommendations would decentralize postal service, and reset rates to cover costs on certain special services.

"There has been tremendous development and many changes in this country since 1836," said Stuart, "but the United States post office department basically has remained unchanged since that date. Today the post office is big business. It employs 500,000 persons, operates 42,000 branches, maintains 24,000 buildings, and its revenues are $1.3 billions a year. Its deficit, which increases annually, is expected to run around $500 million this year. No private firm could remain in business with a similar record of loss. Moreover, no private business could have grown to such proportions if operated along similar lines."

"A bureaucracy to end all bureaucracies, the post office is an over-centralized department with outmoded methods and equipment, using cumbersome budgeting and accounting systems, and regulated by a staggering maze of rules and restrictions."

"Each of the 42,000 postmasters in the country must write to Washington on the simplest matters. Typewriters average 20 years old, while some of the motorized equipment is so ancient that it is impossible to secure parts, and replacements have to be turned out in a machine shop. Six years is considered the maximum performance for a truck in private business, but the average for all post office vehicles is 15 years. There are two pounds and eleven ounces, or 961 pages, of postal laws and regulations."

"It is not surprising that such chaos results in an economic fiasco. What is amazing is that the American people—the taxpayers who are footing the bill—allow it to continue."

"Every dollar of waste in government today adds just that much more fuel to the raging fire of inflation. On the other hand, every government dollar that can be saved means a stronger, less vulnerable America. Unless the citizens in this, and in every other, state make themselves heard on this issue, it is quite possible that the post office reforms bill will continue being 'tabled.'"

Stuart is one of 30 leading citizens throughout the country who recently signed a joint statement to President Truman and congress pointing out that the first six months of the 82nd congress "have been characterized by a single lack of legislative activity."

The statement said that President Truman has submitted only one Hoover Commission reorganization plan to congress during this session, while during 1949 and '50 the 81st congress enacted 50 per cent of the Hoover Commission's recommendations.

"It would be bad enough to see this report defeated openly by the forces of bureaucratic indifference and group selfishness," the statement read. "To see it go down through sheer neglect would be a national tragedy."

What Every Young Man Should Know of Women

Any woman with a son should make sure that he knows this much about women before he marries one:

That a woman's happiness is based on the so-called "little things" such as having her husband treat her with at least as much gallantry as she treats other women, having the things she does for her husband's and children's happiness noticed and commented upon, being told she is pretty—and so on.

That a woman needs to be able to "talk things over" with the man she loves. When a woman complains that she can't "talk" to her husband, she is an unhappy woman.

That a woman needs to feel a part of her husband's career. She will if he talks to her about his work.

That a woman hates having to ask for every cent she spends or to account for everything she buys. Nor will that make a woman economical. It is much more likely to make her dishonest about money matters.

DON'T LET HER DOUBT YOUR LOVE

That a woman is easy to live with only when she is sure that she is loved. If her husband gives her any reason to doubt it, he'll pay in one way or another.

That a woman's loyalty is well worth earning, but that it must be earned.

That a woman will work hard for praise, but won't take criticism from the man she loves.

That a woman—like an elephant—never forgets. Hurt her deeply and the hurt will be with her forever. She may forgive—but she won't forget.

That a woman has as much need as a man for being respected as a person.

Big Business Executive Discovers Even a Bureaucrat Can Be Thrifty

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Edwin T. Gibson, General Foods executive vice president, is retiring soon as deputy administrator of National Production Administration. He thinks more businessmen should come to Washington as he has, to learn how the vast U. S. government operates. He himself has gained considerable respect for the ability of many top bureaucrats. And he has one story to show how the supposedly spendthrift government pinches its pennies.

As a "WOC"—a private citizen serving the government "without compensation," Mr. Gibson has been allowed the usual $15-a-day expense money. That's supposed to cover everything. On one occasion he had to go to New York. To save the government some money, he hopped a ride on a General Foods private plane which happened to be going that way. But he came back by train, and billed the government for the return fare.

His expense account went through General Accounting Office audit, and came back with $1.40 disallowed. The reason given was that he should have bought a round-trip ticket to save the government money. Patiently he wrote a letter explaining that he had ridden for free one way on this trip. He asked if, in the future, he should ride only by train and charge the government both ways, at increased cost.

GAO never answered this question. But they sent him a check for $1.40.

Not Unusual

Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann, who is also National Production Authority administrator, believes that the U. S. civilian economy will rock along at about the present rate for the rest of 1951, and he says it's still a pretty high standard of living.

When Administrator Fleischmann gave this assuring news at a press conference, he was asked when the great "inflationary gap" would hit—when would it be that there was more money in circulation than there were goods to buy? One reporter observed that there still seemed to be more goods in the stores than he had money to buy them with.

"That," admitted Fleischmann, "is also certainly true in my case."

Israel and Oil

Israel is making a strong bid to become a great oil refining center, picking up the ball that Iran is fumbling through its nationalization fight with Britain.

Refinery at Haifa, Israel, is third largest in Middle East. It was built by Anglo-Iranian and Royal Dutch companies. Present capacity is four million tons a year, but only one-third of this capacity is now used.

Plans are underway to raise capacity to nine million tons a year. Crude oil is now received from Kuwait region on Persian Gulf through 12-inch pipe-line, but additional oil could be brought by tanker.

Don't Be Scared, But—

No scare statements have been put out to alarm the public unduly, but two hints have been given that U. S. Defense officials consider Russian threat greater than at any time since end of World War II.

First was Defense Secretary George Marshall's statement to House Foreign Affairs Committee on the need for European arms aid. General Marshall then referred to "the amazing build-up" of Soviet power. Earlier, General Marshall had expressed concern over Russian army occupation of southern Kurile islands, just a short distance from Hokkaido, Japan.

Second warning was given by Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter, on 1,000-plane strength of Red Chinese in Korea and Manchuria. Point here was that if Korean fighting continued, Communist forces might have air superiority over the United Nations. Results of conflict under such conditions might be far different from what they have been.

Let's Not Do It Alone

Here is new argument being advanced by opponents of the "go it alone" theory for American continuation of Korean war, without United Nations support. Suppose the United States should go it alone to the extent of bombing Red air bases in Manchuria and Siberia.

Then suppose the Russians retaliated by a sneak

The Doctor Says:

Epilepsy, Nervous Disease Can Be Helped by Drugs

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The nervous system includes the brain, the spinal cord, and an enormous number of nerves running around the body and forming a connecting network of the utmost importance. If anything in this complicated system is poorly formed at birth or is injured by disease or accident the operation of many functions can go wrong.

A few of the more common nervous diseases will therefore be discussed this week.

Epilepsy, which is the most common cause of fits, is certainly a nervous disease which causes many heartaches and raises many problems. This disease arises in the brain and its seeds, at least, are present at birth.

Epilepsy is inherited and this has given rise to many questions about marriage and children. On this question the best opinion seems to be that some victims of epilepsy can marry and have children without much risk to the offspring and others cannot.

How to decide this is difficult, however, and requires judgment and the careful interpretation of all the facts including the results of the electroencephalograph which shows the electrical brain waves.

In view of this knowledge it seems hard to explain the "attitude" described in S. P.'s letter: "When a man's nervous trouble has been diagnosed as epilepsy what is his duty towards his wife and family? If over a period of years the patient rejects and resents medical assistance what are his wife's responsibilities?"

To this one can only say that the man in question is being unfair to himself as well as his family and all the wife can do is to try to change his mind.

It is known that not all people who have the basic brain pattern for epilepsy have fits, and of those who do, some are mild and come far apart. But thanks principally to the electroencephalograph, it is possible to tell a good deal more about the outlook for a person with epilepsy.

DRUGS A HELP

There is constant study of epilepsy going on and several drugs are available which in many cases lessen the severity of the attacks and make them come at longer intervals.

Epilepsy, then, is a disease of the nervous system which has not yet been conquered but about which much is known and which should not be viewed too pessimistically by those afflicted or by their relatives.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

bomb raid on some U. S. city like Seattle or Detroit. That would mean start of war between the United States and Russia.

European nations might say they wanted no part of any such struggle, in spite of North Atlantic Pact. And in such circumstances, the United States would have to fight the war without allies.

Might Be a Problem

You Chan Yang, new Korean ambassador to the United States, was a medical doctor in Hawaii, and had never held a diplomatic post until he was summoned back to Korea by President Syngman Rhee and given the appointment to Washington.

Dr. You was born in Pusan, but his parents fled to Hawaii to escape Japanese rule. He got his medical education in Boston.

In Washington, Dr. You is working to get support for the South Korean five-point peace plan. It calls for these terms: Chinese Communists must withdraw from Manchuria. North Korean Communists must be disarmed.

UN guarantee against any third power giving further aid to North Koreans. Representatives of Republic of Korea (South Korea) to sit in on any peace conference. No plan to be considered which does not include unification of all Korea.

Electric Battle

There's another big row brewing between public and private power advocates over celebration of "Rural Electrification Week," August 26. Celebration was conceived by private power companies.

Big theme was to be that expansion of electric power lines to rural areas has now made electricity available to 95 per cent of the country. Public power advocates are burned up because the celebration will play down Rural Electrification Administration's 15-year drive to bring electricity to the farms.

In 1935 only 750,000 farms had electricity. Today only 650,000 don't have electricity. Of those farms with power, 49 per cent are served by REA-government financed systems, 47 per cent by private power companies.

"Before I could say a word (and I had quite a few ready to deliver), my alibi expert said that percentage favored the finesse; that even if the heart finesse lost all was well if the diamond finesse won; that even with both kings wrong all would be well if East had both the ace and queen of spades or more than five spades."

"Could he possibly have a point—or is this just his regular double talk?"

The State Fair Association extends an invitation to mothers of youngsters under six years of age. A special Children's Day program is to be held August 10. Three hundred and fifty-two dollars in awards are made. Children do not have to form.

Individuals or groups are to be dressed and if on floats, built to portray nursery rhymes, movie or radio stars; to represent present day characters or tableaux. Children are to be accompanied by an adult during judging. Originality, appearance, ease and likeness of character are to be judging points.

Miscellaneous contests are for the longest pigtail, most freckles, brightest red head and most curls.

Any further information about Children's Day, August 10, can be secured from the Home Bureau office, Amboy.

Entries for the above contest close July 31.

Packing a Suitcase?

Be wise, do not pack carelessly when leaving on your trip this summer. First of all, travel light, be selective in what you take. Make wise choices of clothes that will serve more than one purpose. Choose accessories that combine well with several costumes; stress crease-resistant fabrics, quick washing and drying fabrics. Think of both warm and cool weather too.

Make a list to be sure that all essentials are included. It's wise to secure plastic bottles for cosmetics. Be sure to put in a clothes brush, needles and basic colored threads and some detergent. A plastic bag is handy for a wet washcloth or bathing suit.

Stuff shoes with tissue paper; crumple tissue in the folds of dresses. Fold your jacket with the lining outward; sleeves straight down. Place skirts in suitcase, allowing waist band to hang over edge. Then fold it back over a roll of tissue paper or a suit jacket. Pack shoes, heavy or bulky articles on the bottom of the suitcase. Be sure to pack in order needed.

Before leaving be sure to stop milk, newspaper and other deliveries. Don't advertise your absence by lowering shades and leaving grass uncut. It's often wise to

Fashions for Season Reveal Rich Materials

PARIS—(AP) — The little women with the little waistline is in luck this season, audiences at Fashion show openings noted today.

It takes a tiny waist and a small bodice to set off to perfection the tightwaisted, small-topped, bell-skirted silhouette which so far has been a favorite with Fath, Griffe and Rochas.

Of course there were slim-skirted dresses too, but for afternoon, cocktail and evening wear the skirts run to yards and yards of material usually held out by stiffened petticoats.

Parisian audiences have never seen richer fashion materials. Gold and silver metallic brocades, heavy satins and velvets, embroidered velvets and jet, or jewel-sprinkled silks lend themselves naturally to Oriental influences and to romantic great-skirted ball gowns.

Brighten Hem Down

Fath yesterday brought the hem down to between 14 and 15 inches from the floor—not as long by several inches as the "new look," but many spectators thought his dresses recalled in other ways Dior's post-war silhouette. For example, there were several petal skirts.

Shiaporelli and Lanvin are the major houses showing today.

Dior's always eagerly awaited collection will open Monday and the high fashion season will continue with several major showings daily until Balenciaga's collection winds up the top-bracket group on August 6.

Browns, beiges, greys and muted colors are more popular this year than the brighter shades.

Paris designers are always turning to history for inspiration and this time they have brought back to favor such shades of the past as "Spencers" (false jackets cut in one with the blouse back but with turnback fronts), "Berthas" (deep - yoked collars, Guimpe sleeves, set-in, wide at the top, narrow at the cuff).

Such diverse influences as George Sand's neat high riding top knot and tight basque jackets—and Bathsheba's hooded cocoon-shaped cape coat—have been used by Fath and Griffe.

The anniversary had occurred June 18, while they were on their trip to California.

A seven-piece silver set was presented to the Hoffs from the class. The Hoffs were united in marriage at the Polo Church of the Brethren, June 18, 1926, with the Rev. Grover L. Wine officiating, pastor of the Polo church at that time.

Paris Fashions Show Hemline Is Down for Season

PARIS — (AP) — The hemline is down again—to the bottom of the calf.

That was the biggest news revealed by the Jacques Fath collection, which this morning raised the curtain on Paris' fall and winter fashions. Skirts as voluminous as grandmother wore, and with just as many petticoats underneath, are Fath's new favorite. He tops them with tiny-waisted bodices, skin tight but modestly high-necked.

Dramatic combinations of black and white are the number one color scheme, followed by smoky and sandy tones, browns, and pale pink, yellow and lilac. Materials are rich: velvets, satins and taffetas. The slope-shouldered, wide-skirted silhouette is definitely reminiscent of the New Look, but shorter, with slightly rippled, irregular hems.

Fath's big, loose cape coats are meant to be thrown open to show bright colored, wide striped or bordered linings.

Day and afternoon dresses are demure, with "Modesties" or pert short fronts filling up any necklines which dare to dip, but décolletage comes in for cocktail and evening, with most formal gowns strapless, and others with push-down shoulders.

Horsehair lace, as well as more conventional laces, are much used for evening.

Mac Friendship Cost Him Troops, Guard Officer Says

Warns Nation To Get Ready For Emergency

Soviet rulers have given up their idea of world conquest. He indicted Russia for sending large quantities of modern military equipment to satellites and cited these preparations for aggression:

1. Armed forces in Bulgaria, Rumania, and Hungary "far greater than those allowed under the peace treaties they signed in 1947."
2. Rumania's recent order driving the inhabitants out of a stretch of land 30 miles wide along the Yugoslav border.
3. Bulgaria and Hungary have done the same thing," he said.
4. Military preparations have been going on in those zones along the border.
5. The flow of new equipment from Russia to the North Koreans and Chinese Communists.
6. Heavy concentrations of Russian "air, land and sea forces in the Russian provinces along the Manchurian border, across from Japan, and across from Alaska."

Dedicated To Buildup

Mr. Truman said he is dedicated to the building up of such armed strength in the free world that "the Kremlin will have to drop its plans for aggression and subversion."

Although the president slammed hard at critics of the administration policy, he named no names.

But he said:

"Don't let yourselves be confused by smearers and slanderers. There are three things I want you to remember:

"First, this country is on the right track in foreign affairs. We have a goal—and that is peace. We have a way to reach that goal—and that is the middle way between world war on one side and surrender to Communism on the other.

Making Progress

"Second, we are making progress toward that goal. The growing defenses of this country, the increasing strength and unity of the free nations, the set-back to aggression in Korea—all these show the progress we are making.

"Third, we can not reach that goal of peace if we falter now. We must not let up because we have made some progress. We must be turned back by cries of bankruptcy, or by efforts to create fear and suspicion among American citizens. We are going to go right ahead and do what we have set out to do. The people of the United States are going forward toward peace."

'Pinch Bar' Burglar Adds 6 More Crimes

GALENA—Russell J. Squires, the "Pinch bar burglar" who admitted robbing four Dixon and two Polo business establishments, has added six burglaries in Monroe, Wis., to his growing list of crimes.

Squires, who lives in Freeport, told two Monroe police officers that he had broken into a furniture store, a specialty service shop, a dry cleaning establishment, an auto store, and electric store and a book store, but denied breaking into eight other places.

He told the officers he could not remember the places clearly, but if there were pinch bar marks, it was probably his work.

This brings the total number of small businesses broken into by Squires to 38. He has also admitted three attempted breakins.

Seize Nine As Members Of Dope Ring

NEW YORK —(AP)— Federal authorities early today arrested eight men and a woman described as members of a $3,000,000 a year French-Italian counterfeiting and dope ring.

Deported vice king Charles "Lucky" Luciano was named as head of the Italian link of the alleged 19-member smuggling combine by Assistant U.S. Attorney Louis I. Kaplan, who added:

"This is the largest Italian-French smuggling ring ever to come to the attention of the district attorney's office."

Seven of the men were arraigned early today after seizure of bogus money with a face value of $100,000 delivered to an undercover agent last night in a midtown Manhattan hotel. Authorities said the bundle of fake 10 and 20 dollar bills, delivered in a cardboard suitcase by two men, was to be exchanged for $22,000 in real currency.

The seven were held in a total of $450,000 bail by U.S. Commissioner Edward McDonald, who set a hearing for Aug. 10.

Deactivate Unit Led by Gen. Klein

He's Now General Without Soldiers; Hurls Charges

CHICAGO, (AP)—Brig. Gen. Julius Klein of the Illinois national guard, whose unit has been deactivated, claims the action is linked with his public support of Gen. MacArthur's policies.

His superior officers and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson deny the charge.

Announcement of the orders to dissolve Klein's unit, the guard's 109th antiaircraft artillery brigade, was made public yesterday.

There were only 153 troops under Klein's command since two gun battalions and one operations detachment were called into federal service in May. The deactivation leaves the general without a command.

Klein, a Chicago publicity man who has been at odds for months with his superiors, said in a statement:

Supported Mac

"This is the culmination of a series of events which began last April when I spoke out in support of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's policies when they were made known to the American people.

"As I said in April, I shall not resign, I shall not retire, I shall request transfer to the inactive division of the national guard, that I may retain my rank and stand ready to serve the nation."

He charged that his superiors, Maj. Gen. Leo Boyle, adjutant general of the guard; Maj. Gen. Harry L. Bolen, guard commander; and Maj. Gen. George F. Ferry, commander of the guard's 33rd division "seemingly conspired to rob me of my command" and that Gov. Stevenson "yielded to pressure."

Claimed He Was Muzzled

Klein's squabble with his superiors was made public after April 26. Klein charged then that Bolen had tried to "muzzle" him because he publicly voiced support of MacArthur's policies.

Bolen, however, said he reprimanded Klein because Klein accused his superior, Ferry, of a double cross for not permitting Klein's troops to fire the 17-gun salute during MacArthur's visit. Ferry's troops fired the salute.

In a statement issued in Springfield yesterday, Boyle said that Klein requested a statement of policy on his remaining troops after the bulk were called into service.

No Need of Troops

In response to Klein's request, Boyle said, the army department in Washington advised on May 19 that "there was no foreseeable need for the troops that remained."

Boyle said that Bolen recommended that Klein's remaining troops be deactivated and then re-assigned to other guard units as an economy measure and to conserve space in some armories.

National guard officials said the cost of continuing Klein's units would be $122,000 a year shared by the federal and state governments.

Gov. Stevenson said Klein's charge that the deactivation stems from Klein's support of MacArthur's policies is "nonsense."

"Gen. Klein's troops were called into federal service long ago and there was little or nothing left for him to command. Gen. Klein's troops were summoned for federal service long before the MacArthur incident," the governor said.

Be on Lookout For Phony Bill

NEW YORK —(AP)— After federal authorities cracked an alleged $3,000,000 a year international counterfeiting and dope ring, they asked today that the public be on the lookout for the following phony bills:

1. A series of bills bearing the name of a San Francisco federal reserve bank: The face numbers of the tens beginning F11 and the back numbers starting with 17; the face numbers of the twenties beginning J16 and the back numbers starting with 488.
2. Ten dollar bills bearing the name of a New York federal reserve bank, the face number starting K-513 and the back number beginning 19.

KLEIN STRIPPED OF TROOPS—Brig. Gen. Julius Klein of the Illinois National Guard welcomes General Douglas MacArthur during MacArthur's visit in Chicago last April. General Klein, who was reported to have criticized his senior officer when the senior cancelled his plans for a 17-gun salute for MacArthur, has been stripped of his troops, a National Guard major general announced in Chicago July 27. Klein commented, "They couldn't take away my rank, so they took away my troops."

Army Asks Funds For Flood Control In S. Illinois

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The army has recommended that congress vote $3,600,000 for a levee-building program and flood control work along the Mississippi river in Southern Illinois.

This was disclosed yesterday by Brig. Gen. C. H. Corpenning, assistant chief of army engineers, in testifying before a senate appropriations sub-committee on an army civil functions money bill.

Senator Dirksen (R-Ill.) and Rep. Bishop (R-Ill.) both urged appropriation of money to continue a levee building program started several years ago. Bishop said 34,000 acres of farm land now are under water because of recent floods.

Much work has been done on the levees. However, the projects were omitted from President Truman's 1952 budget in line with a policy of not going ahead with any flood control considered not vital to national defense.

Pulling in to avoid a collision Rev. Cartwright struck a piece of angle iron protruding from the door of the truck.

Sterling Man Injured in Polo Crash

A Sterling man was taken to KSB hospital this morning with a fractured arm following an auto-truck crash on the blacktop road between the Polo blacktop and Rt. 88.

Kenneth Scholl, Rt. 1, Sterling, was the victim. His car crashed a milk truck operated by Elmer Deets, Rt. 2, Rock Falls. State Police Officer Steven Adee, Milledgeville, said the truck pulled onto the blacktop road and Scholl crashed into it. Both drivers were alone.

The truck is owned by Wayne Knox, Sterling. The crash occurred one mile west of the Polo blacktop. Damage to the Scholl auto was estimated at $250 by Adee while the truck was undamaged.

See Little Chance Of Slashing 60 Billion Budget

WASHINGTON, (AP)—House appropriations committee members said today they see little chance of making any "substantial" reduction in the $60,000,000,000 defense budget for the year ending next June 30.

A subcommittee handling the budget bill recently completed hearings and has all but finished the job of making recommendations on the scores of items that comprise the total.

Any chance to cut the budget deeply, members said, disappeared about a week ago when Secretary of Defense Marshall cautioned the committee against any reduction in the defense program because of the possibility of peace in Korea.

Bankrupt Grain Dealer States Assets in Court

FREEPORT—Francis Spellman, Jr., Rochelle grain dealer, who has filed for bankruptcy proceedings and is under bond for federal and state criminal charges, has filed a list of his assets in Federal court here.

Spellman says he has $96,251.42 in assets including machinery, fixtures and tools at $72,485, $5,089.55 in insurance, $1,876.87 in debts in open accounts, $16,000 in stock in trade and two trucks at $800.

Also listed are "six cars of grain en route to market, being held by attachment, worth approximately $16,000."

The first meeting of the Spellman creditors will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Lee county Circuit courtroom in Dixon.

Spellman had been ordered to file a list of assets after federal authorities had discovered that $275,000 worth of government grain had "disappeared" from his bins.

Spellman is free on $2,000 bond on three federal charges of embezzlement, conversion of government property and lying to a federal agency. He has also been freed on $1,000 bond on two state charges of embezzlement and larceny by bail.

No date has been set for a hearing before U. S. Commissioner James K. Cavanaugh on the federal charges, but Spellman must go before Chester Landers, justice of the peace, Oregon, within 30 days for a hearing on the state charges. Galen Petritz, Ashton farmer, swore out the state charges.

None Injured As Cars Crash At Franklin

FRANKLIN GROVE—Two autos collided near here Friday evening but none was injured although one person was thrown from a car.

Betty Bridgeman, Rt. 2, Franklin Grove, apparently was uninjured when thrown from an auto driven by Earl Eugene Sensenig, Lee Center, following the collision. Sensenig and another passenger, Martha Eberly, also escaped injury.

The driver of the other auto was Vernon S. Hill, Chicago. He was accompanied by his wife. The collision occurred during a driving rainstorm at the intersection of the blacktop road and a country road one mile north of Franklin Grove. Time of the crash was 7 p.m., according to Sheriff Charles H. Redebaugh.

Hill who was driving west collided with the southbound Sensenig auto. After his car struck the left rear fender of the Sensenig auto, the Hill machine went across the road and struck a utility pole. The Sensenig car spun around in the middle of the road, the sheriff said.

The Hill auto was damaged extensively while Sensenig was able to drive away after the fender had been pulled away from the wheel.

Youth Looks for Postman, Found Hanging in Tree

MOUNT VERNON, O., (AP)— Nine-year-old John Popham climbed a tree near his farm home yesterday to look for the postman.

He didn't find the postman; the postman found him—dangling by one foot from the crotch in the tree.

When they got Johnny to the hospital and stripped him, they found burns all over his body.

Sheriff's deputies, looking for a possible sadist, found instead that an electric power line passed through the tree's branches.

When Johnny woke up a few hours later, he didn't remember touching the wire, but deputies said that is what must have happened.

Johnny apparently is only slightly the worse for his brush with death.

Deaths

R. C. CAUGHEY

Word has been received by Mrs. Everett Hannan of the death of her uncle, R. C. Caughey, formerly of Dixon. For many years Mr. Caughey was associated with the Grand Detour Plow Factory, and in later years, the J. I. Case Company, both in Dixon and Rockford. He died Sunday, July 22, in Glendale, Calif., following a brief illness. Funeral services were held Tuesday, July 24, at the Wee Kirk of the Heather, with burial in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Sycamore Sons Play Here Sunday

NI Leaders to Face Reynolds Team at 2 p. m.

Visitors Boast 6-0 League Standing For 1951 Season

SUNDAY'S NI GAMES

OTHER GAMES
Chicago Moose at Pawpaw,
2:30 p.m.
Rock Falls vs. Polo.
Lanark vs. Forrester. (Doubleheader at Polo, 1 p.m.).

The Sycamore Sons, unbeatable so far in Northern Illinois league baseball play, move into Dixon Sunday afternoon.

Here they will face Dixon's Reynolds Wire team, an aggregation that has been fast tumbling for the league cellar after an ambitious start. Game time is 2:30 p. m. at Reynolds field.

While the Dixon boys may entertain some faint hopes of upsetting the exalted league leaders, nothing in the way of recent performances should burden them with overconfidence.

Nor should the outcome of the first meeting between Dixon and Sycamore hold forth much encouragement for the locals. It was back in June that the Wiremen took an unblemished record to Sycamore only to have it tainted with a 10 to 5 loss at the hands of the socking Sons.

Mgr. Lou Bevilacqua, however, will be trying to inspire his lads to snap out of their slump Sunday, and he figures there isn't a better team in the league to do it against. Lou probably will post himself behind the plate again Sunday, a position he has had to fill since Frank Nagy has been shelved with an arm injury.

Bevilacqua will be on the receiving end of the throws of either John Maynard, John Howe or Ron Sitter.

Dixon VFW to Meet DeKalb Sunday Night

Dixon softball fans should witness one of the finest pitching duels of the season when Vernon (Bullet) Kirk and Bud Chaland get together Sunday night.

Kirk pitches for the Dixon VFW team, of course, and Chaland, one of the top softball pitchers in Northern Illinois, throws for DeKalb VFW.

The game will go nine innings and is scheduled for Reynolds field for 8:15. There will be no preliminary game Sunday night.

In an earlier meeting, Dixon managed to edge DeKalb, 4 to 2, but required two extra innings to do the job.

Oliver Breezes to St. Paul Golf Lead

ST. PAUL, Minn., (AP)—Par was just another word in the dictionary as golfers today started third round play 11 strokes under that mark in quest of the St. Paul Open golf tourney's $15,000 prize money.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, St. Andrews, Ill., sizzled around the course for a seven-under-par 65 yesterday to match the 133 posted for the first two days by Ed Oliver, Wilmington, Del. Oliver bested regulation marks by five strokes yesterday after scoring a 66 for opening day rounds.

Changes Uniform

CAPT. ARMAND RIOPELLE
Not so long ago Armand Riopelle appeared on this page quite often pictured in baseball togs as manager of the Reynolds Wire baseball team.

The army air force demanded a change in uniform, however, when Riopelle was recalled to active duty July 1.

Now he's Capt. Armand Riopelle and he's stationed at the air proving ground, Eglin field, Fla.

Play for Northern Illinois Tennis Crown

At Rockford Sunday in NI Tennis Play

Dixon's tennis team, winner of the Southern division championship here last week moves to Rockford Sunday in search of bigger game—the Northern Illinois Tennis association inter-division championship.

Opposing Beier's team will be the Rockford Tennis club and its outstanding No. 1 man, Lloyd (Rusty) Gates. A former Stanford and Pacific Coast conference college star, Gates last year made the difference as Rockford defeated Dixon, 5 to 4, for the inter-division title.

Covert Unhappy
Capt. George Covert, still unhappy at the sudden end to Dixon's tennis supremacy in Northern Illinois which Gates caused, will rely largely on the efforts of seven men to bring the title back to Dixon.

Singles players for Beier's team will be Lew Behrens, Bob Wiggins, George Acker, Floyd Acker, Dave Livingston and Dick Joslyn. In the doubles, Behrens and Wiggins will pair up, as will the Acker brothers and Livingston and Covert.

An injured leg that has failed to loosen up will limit Covert's action to the doubles competition.

Cartel Also Tough
Along with Gates, present City champion of Rockford, the defenders will have Don Cartel, who pairs with Gates to form an almost unbeatable doubles combination. Between them, Gates and Cartel hold all of the top singles and doubles crowns in the Northern Illinois association.

Other Rockford players will be John Kinley and Dave Kasky, former Big 8 singles champion.

To gain the inter-division finals, Dixon had to defeat Clinton last Sunday and did so easily with an 8½ to ½ victory.

pinch-hitter Charley Maxwell homered with one on in the seventh off Bob Lemon for Boston.

In other American league games the Washington Senators defeated the St. Louis Browns, 7-0, and the Philadelphia Athletics downed the Detroit Tigers, 10-6.

Brooklyn Roll
Brooklyn, meanwhile, continued to roll along in the National league. The Dodgers overcame a five run deficit to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 12-9. Roy Campanella broke it up with a three-run homer in the ninth off Al Brazle. The victory was the Brooks' tenth straight over the Cards and it dumped the Red Birds out of third into fourth place in favor of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Barrick, Icicles To Meet Monday

Wet grounds Friday halted all Amvets Junior baseball play.

Louis Leger, program director, still trying to work out a playable schedule for Major league play next week, today announced the game for Monday night and said the rest of the schedule will be available Monday if possible.

The game announced for Monday night follows:

8:30 p. m.—Barrick Cattle vs. Coss Icicle.

20 YOUNG NETMEN PLAY STERLING

Twenty Dixon boys left with Coach George Covert this morning to play tennis against the Sterling team. All of the boys are in the 13-years-and-under bracket and form the Dixon Elks team.

OREGON—DeKalb Country club's golf team jumped off to a slight lead over the host Oregon club here Friday at the halfway mark in the annual Women's Lincoln Highway tourney.

Dixon Country club, lacking the perennial strength displayed by the Dixon men, was a dismal seventh in the eight-team field with a minus 58 score in the battle against bogey.

DeKalb stood at minus 6 and Oregon was minus 11 at the conclusion of one of the hottest days in tournament history.

Individual scoring also was paced by golfers from DeKalb and Oregon. Martha Betty Diven, of Oregon, and Mrs. Ethel Fiske, DeKalb, each toured the picturesque Oregon golf course in 84 to tie for honors at the halfway mark of the 36 hole tourney.

Next in the individual tussle came Florence Rietveld, Morrison, and Mrs. Milo Oakland, DeKalb, with 88's. Rogine Fearer, of Oregon was fifth with 91.

Most of the visiting women found Oregon a stiff golfing test, especially in the 90-degree heat that prevailed the first day of the two-day meet. Play continues today in the tourney.

Dixon scores:
Chick Nilsson—51-48—99.
Virginia Flower—52-59—111.
Marge Barrowman—62-49—111.
Lucille Poole—56-61—117.
Mildred Ryan—63-61—124.
Jarleth Tarnawski—72-60—132.
Alice Peterson—71-62—133.

FUTILE CUBS LOSE AGAIN

CHICAGO, (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, under new Mgr. Phil Cavarretta, are looking hard for hits. They've found all too few at Wrigley field. The Cubs scrounged only five yesterday in losing their fourth straight home game. The Philadelphia Phillies took the Northsiders, 2-0.

Brooklyn administered three straight licks to the Cubs before Philadelphia took over. In the four home reverses, the Chicagoans have scored only six runs.

The Cubs' Frank Miller matched the Phillies' Bubba Church in pitching with a five-hit yield. But the Cubs couldn't make their count. Until the ninth, the Wrigleyites didn't have what could reasonably be called a scoring chance. In eighth inning, no Cub runner got beyond first base.

In the last inning, Hank Sauer got on base through an error, and Forrest Burgess singled. A double play ended the threat.

The game was marred by rain, which delayed the start 10 minutes and interrupted play twice for periods of 13 and 12 minutes.

City Golf to Start August 9

Jaycees Now Selling Entry Cards Here

Qualifying rounds for the Dixon Jaycee's City golf tourney will be played Aug. 9-17, tourney chairman Dick Barry announced today.

Barry also reported that the site of the tourney, originally announced as Emerald Hill Country club, has been changed to Plum Hollow Country club.

Entry cards, available to all who call themselves Dixonites now are being sold by Jaycee members and also are being sold at Erzinger's, the B & A sports shop and at Plum Hollow.

Entry Fee $2
The entry price is $2. For this fee the contestant will play no less than 36 holes of golf and may play as much as 54 holes if he qualifies for the championship round.

MAYOR WILLIAM SLOTHOWER is signed as the first entrant in the Jaycee's City golf tourney by Dick Barry, tourney chairman, in the Mayors' "office" Friday.

The tourney will be staged on 18 holes to determine which flight he will play in, each golfer will

HUGH'S VIEWS of SPORTS

Emerald Hill Country club, Paul Long's 18-hole layout on the Sterling road, suffered two setbacks during the past week and Paul couldn't do much about either one except sit back and wait.

THE FIRST JOLT came when the Dixon Jaycees switched their City tourney from Emerald Hill to Plum Hollow. The switch was made because of pressure from local businessmen who protested that Long's club is closer to Sterling than Dixon and the awarding of the tourney to Long would be taking play and business out of Dixon.

While Plum Hollow certainly is able to handle this tourney, it is no secret that the 18-hole Emerald Hill course can handle a big tournament more comfortably than any course in this area.

EARLIER IN THE week, Long's petition for admittance of Emerald Hill in the Lincoln Highway tourney was shelved by representatives of the 10 clubs now members of the Lincoln Highway association. Here, in effect, is the reason member clubs gave for tabling the request:

"The Lincoln Highway tourney, with 10 teams sending a total of 60 players to each meet, already is too big for the nine-hole courses on which most of the tourneys are played. Experience at Princeton again this year verified this belief. Although some foursomes were late starting, play was not finished until dark each day. That is why next year's tourney at Morrison will be over only 54 holes instead of the 72 played this year."

MEANWHILE, LONG is planning for a good turnout Sunday afternoon when powerful Jimmy Thompson makes an exhibition appearance at the Emerald Hill links. Jimmy has long been known as one of the longest hitters in the game. Here are a few of his accomplishments in the power department, all supposedly perpetrated on golf courses, not concrete pavements:

1929—British Open, Muirfield, Scotland. Drove 11th hole 375 yards. Ball rolled between Ed Dudley's legs while he was putting on the green.

1930-1932—Drove 18th hole 380 yards Broadmoor Golf Club, Colorado Springs, Colo., eight times.

1937—During driving contest St. Augustine, Fla., hit one ball 315 yards on fly. No wind.

1937—Won North American driving championship, Niagara Falls, 10 balls, average 306. Longest 365.

1940—Won long driving contest Los Angeles Coliseum, 386 yards.

1946—Won long driving contest Chicago Victory Open, 296 yards.

1947—Won long driving contest Bing Crosby Open, Pebble Beach, 268 against breeze and all carry.

1939—Drove 17th hole Engleisle golf club, San Francisco, 440. Slight dog leg.

AND SPEAKING of golfing celebrities, Smiley Quick was a surprise visitor at Plum Hollow last week, according to Frank Daschbach.

"Someone drove in and asked, 'Who's the pro here,'" Daschbach said.

"I told him we didn't have a pro, but that I was the manager," Daschbach continued.

"I've heard about this course, so I thought I would stop and take a look at it," said Quick, who was passing through Dixon after picking up in the Blue Ribbon open in Milwaukee.

QUICK, INCIDENTALLY, is a former native of Freeport. He was headed for California at the time of his stop here.

play another 18 holes in an effort to play for the championship of his flight. The eight low shooters in the second round in each flight will play for championships on Aug. 26. Prizes will be awarded to the champions in each flight.

According to Barry, this method of play is used instead of match play so more golfers will be able to participate. Golfers must merely register with the tourney manager at Plum Hollow before playing qualifying rounds, get the entry cards punched and then turn in scores after playing.

To Pair Foursomes
Foursomes will be paired by the tourney chairman for the championship round.

Barry emphasized that the tourney is designed for all Dixon golfers, no matter what score they may shoot.

"After the qualifying rounds everyone will be shooting against others in his own class," Barry said.

Winners of the local tourney will play winners of a similar meet held in Sterling and Rock Falls earlier this season.

I have a splendid list of good buyers for 80, 120, to most anything you may have in farms and will appreciate an opportunity to talk with you, if you contemplate selling. I know something of the Dixon surroundings, its potentialities, etc., and I am certain I can handle your transaction with speed and accuracy. I have established a very good following in the Moline and Rock Island areas and having formerly lived in Dixon, having had a large part in music and community activities in Dixon for quite some time, I assume there are those who remember me and would be interested in employing me to serve them in this capacity. Call me at Mol. 8076 or Mol. 9254 and reverse charges, drop card to 2008 7th Ave., Moline.
